

SEVENTY-SEVEN DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

COURT ACTION EXPECTED TO END KLAN WAR

Opposing Forces In Oklahoma Fight Agree to Legal Course

HEARING TUESDAY

Case Will Be Carried To Supreme Court Speedily As Possible.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—State Supreme Court Justices, after a conference today decided to defer consideration of legal technicalities in the way of a special election October 2 until the entire court of seven justices are present, which will not be until tomorrow. Two of the justices were out of the city today.

At the same time, it was reported Gov. J. C. Walton was planning to block voting next Tuesday on "Initiative petition No. 79" which provides for an amendment to the constitution permitting the legislature to convene by a majority call. It is technical in nature and this petition that the supreme court must clear up before the election is held.

The governor who used the military to prevent the legislature from assembling for the purpose of impeaching him, is expected to oppose the election on the contention his proclamation calling for a vote Oct. 2 on five proposals did not include the legislative proposal. The proposal was initiated by Campbell Russell, former corporation commissioner.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—By agreement of the opposing forces, the supreme court of Oklahoma will determine who's who in the legislative row and Governor Walton, it is stated on reliable authority, will abide by that decision.

The threatened clash at arms came to a sudden halt when the insurgent legislators filed their bill for an injunction to restrain the governor from further interference with their plans to meet and impeach him. Sixty-seven members of the house of representatives in the legal session, or thirteen more than the constitutional majority, signed the petition for the injunction.

The petition was presented to Judge J. I. Phelps of the district court of Oklahoma. By agreement of counsel for both sides the hearing was set for next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock before Judge Phelps.

As soon as the district court renders a decision, whichever side loses will immediately appeal to the state supreme court, which sits here in Oklahoma City and which is prepared to hear the case speedily. In the meantime the legislators have agreed not to attempt any action against the governor to assemble in any way until after the supreme court has spoken.

For the first time in the history of the courts in this country, it was stated by counsel in the litigation, the question finally is to be passed on by a high court as to whether a state legislature, once it has adjourned sine die, can revive itself for impeachment proceedings without submitting to a call by the governor for such extraordinary session.

A second important question that will be raised will be as to whether the governor of a state has the power to establish martial law that supercedes the highest courts of the state. Both of these questions will be raised in the demurrer that will be filed Tuesday morning by counsel for the governor.

The petition for the injunction is directed against Attorney General Markham of the Oklahoma national guard, who, obeying the orders of the governor who is the commander-in-chief of the forces within the state, denied the legislators the right to assemble in the hall of representatives.

REDUCTION OF FREIGHT RATES TO FOLLOW REPEAL OF "GUARANTEE CLAUSE"

Coolidge Administration Expects to Replace Compulsory Program and Restore Rate Fixing Powers to Commerce Commission

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Coolidge administration has virtually decided to repeal the "guarantee clause" of the transportation act as means of bringing about a general reduction of freight rates early next year, International News Service learned today. This plan will be submitted by President Coolidge in the next Congress for the compulsory railroad consolidation program advocated by his predecessor, the late President Harding, according to reliable authority. The Coolidge proposal probably will include restoration to the interstate commerce commission of the rate fixing powers held prior to government operation of the railroads.

Repeal of the "guarantee clause"—section 15-A—will have the support of all administration leaders in Congress. It is understood Republican leaders urged this action up the president as the only possible government action toward reducing high transportation costs, a step demanded by farm organizations throughout the country.

Although the compulsory consolidation program has been worked upon by government agencies for a year past, the plan has met a veritable storm of opposition not only from railroad executives but from legislators and representatives of farm organizations as well.

An administration measure—carrying amendments to the present transportation act—is now being prepared by Senator Albert B. Cummins, Republican of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee and coauthor of the railroad bill. This piece of legislation, it was said, will propose the repeal of the "guarantee clause." Senator Cummins who favored the consolidation plan, has been won over to the proposal.

The so-called "guarantee clause" has been a bone of contention among farm organizations which blamed existing high freight rates on the transportation act. The clause, at present, directs the interstate commerce commission to fix rates which will provide "a fair return" on the value of railroads.

Up until July 1 the rates fixed by the commission have been calculated to bring the railroads profits averaging less than six per cent figures on their valuation. The rates, fixed by the commission under this authority are still in effect. In some instances the rates are said to actually provide returns as high as eight per cent and as low as four per cent.

The federal trade commission, in a report to President Coolidge today urged an immediate reduction in freight rates. It pointed out in statistics that the "spread" in prices of grains from the farmer to the consumer and showed a great part of the distribution cost was charged off to the railroads. In 1919-1920 the commission reported the cost of marketing wheat was 33.20 cents per bushel of which 14.31 cents went to transportation costs. This was an increase of 3.23 cents a bushel over the transportation costs for the years 1912-1917. A similar increase of 4.33 cents per bushel in transportation costs for the same periods was noted in the marketing of corn. Besides the reduction of freight rates, the commission urged more co-operative marketing by farmers to reduce the "spread."

MAY CALL-OFF STRIKE

New York, Sept. 28.—A spirited fight between radical and conservative elements of the striking pressmen's local is expected tonight when the local assemblies to vote on the question of calling off the unauthorized strike started last week. It is predicted that conservative members of the old union No. 25 will be in a position to outvote those opposed to returning to work.

TO TRY CHAIR CAR

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Columbus and Worthington city officials today will take the first ride and inspect the new chair car to be put into immediate operation between Marion and Columbus by the C. D. and M. traction company. Beginning Monday, regular service will be conducted three times a day. The trip today is to Marion and return.

TAXI DRIVER INDICTED

Zanesville, O., Sept. 28.—Clayde Bailey, taxi driver between Columbus and Cambridge, was indicted here for murder in the second degree. He is charged with shooting his wife.

FARMERS URGE AID FROM PRESIDENT IN MEETING THURSDAY

Would Have Congress Called in Special Session for Help

Washington, Sept. 28.—President Coolidge heard from the mouths of "dirt" farmers and agricultural bankers from the affected states the story of desperate conditions in the wheat belt of the central northwest and their earnest appeals for help from their government.

The delegation urged the necessity of immediate relief and asked, to make this possible, that congress be called into special session. Among the definite proposals submitted to the president were the revival of the United States Grain corporation, with a revolving fund of $50,000,000 and a deep cut on freight rates for farm products.

The request was made for a further increase in the tariff on wheat, under the power granted the president through the flexible tariff provision of the Fordney-McCumber law. The only mention of the tariff, it was stated, was in connection with the agitation by paint manufacturers for a reduction of the duty on flax. The farmers are solidly against this proposal.

President Coolidge enhanced his reputation as a good listener and asked many questions to elicit further information, but in no way committed himself or intimated what action if, he will take. It was asserted that Mr. Coolidge expressed a keen desire, if possible, to find some "economically sound and workable plan" of relief. No suggestion came from him as to the line he thinks this plan may follow.

Mr. Coolidge told the delegation at the conclusion of the hearing that he will meet later with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and go over with them very carefully the facts of the situation and all possible methods of solving the problem.

The farmers explained at the outset, it was said, that they did not come to ask price stabilization by direct government price fixing. The wheat growers, the president was told, want help in marketing and price stabilization only insofar as it may be attained in this way.

President Coolidge requested Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to begin the immediate formulation of an executive program for farmer relief. The program will have for its principal feature the re-establishment of the United States Grain corporation, which was recommended to Coolidge and Wallace by the farmers' committee. The farmers were informed that their recommendations would be embodied in the Wallace plan, with such modification as the secretary may see fit to make.

MILLIONAIRE'S WILL

PASSENGERS DROWNED AS BRIDGE GIVES AWAY DROPPING COACHES INTO WATERS OF SWOLLEN STREAM

TELL OF WRECK.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Two survivors of the appalling wreck of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train No. 30, gave the first graphic eye witness stories of the sudden disaster which snuffed out 70 lives. Daniel J. McQuaid, of Denver, salesman for a Rochester, N. Y., optical firm, struggled four miles through mud and rain to reach Big Muddy Oil fields. McQuaid telephoned to his wife, who was in Denver, details of the wreck, declaring he had just escaped from the worst wreck in western railway history, but that he was not injured.

Harry Wyatt, the other survivor who has told his story, did not give his address.

I was in the Denver sleeping car," Mr. McQuaid said to his wife, "when the crash came. The car seemed to turn completely over and stand on end. I crawled out the door, which was only a few feet away, and managed to get out of the car. Noticing the lights in the distance I started for them. I walked four miles, I since learned, before I reached the Big Muddy Oil fields. I at first thought I was the only one out of the whole train who managed to escape alive. There were five or six men in the smoking compartment ahead of me. It is almost certain they were drowned. They couldn't possibly have gotten out of that place."

Wyatt dramatically told of how he saw a few men and women struggle through windows and doors of the coaches, climb to the top and cling there while the water swished about the train. "They hung there and screamed for help," he said, "while the water roared by in a stream that defied any one to reach the unfortunate people. It was a torrent. No man could swim it."

FEDERAL DRY UNIT CORRUPT CAPITAL POLICE DECLARE

Washington, Sept. 28.—Charging that the Washington prohibition unit is a hotbed of corruption, police officials of the capital have served notice upon Federal Commissioner Haynes that they will withdraw their co-operation in enforcement activities unless he effects wholesale reforms. The commissioner has been given 48 hours, it was learned, to dismiss at least six agents attached to the local prohibition unit. Unless he complies, it is stated, the whole enforcement program will have to be handled by federal agents. The decision was reached at a secret conference attended by police department heads. Commissioner Haynes was notified to be present, but sent Rice Hoole, an attorney attached to his office.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST PROPOSED OLD AGE PENSION IS STARTED

Columbus, Sept. 28.—The establishment of a speakers bureau and the organization of the state by counties were developments today in the organized opposition to the proposed referendum on the old age pension bill by commercial and agricultural organizations and individuals.

Representatives of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, several manufacturers associations, chambers of commerce, the Ohio Board of Commerce, the Ohio Association of Real Estate Dealers, and similar organizations in a meeting here adopted a resolution announcing their "purpose to devote every energy to the defeat of the law at the November election."

Detrimental effects of the proposed law, according to the resolution are that it will force a great increase in taxes; discourage saving and oppress small property owners; create a powerful political machine in its pension bureau; allow both husband and wife to draw a pension; make the state a goal for the improvident from other states and create a new class of dependents.

CLOUD BURST TURNS CREEK INTO TORRENT

Pullman Porter Rises to Role of Hero and Assists Imprisoned Passengers To Safety—Rescue Work Still Going On

Denver, Colo., Sept. 28.—The Casper wreck on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad has been "greatly exaggerated," according to L. C. McBride, assistant superintendent of that road with headquarters here, who declared at 10 o'clock today that his information places the dead at not in excess of 20 persons. The statement was in direct conflict with reports from railroad employees in Casper and Glenrock.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—At least 77 persons are believed to be drowned in the wreck of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train No. 30, which plunged off a bridge into Cold Creek, at Lockett, 15 miles east of Casper, late last night.

At 8 o'clock this morning officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad estimated that between 115 and 120 passengers were on the train when it left Casper at 8:35 last night. Twenty-eight occupants of the Denver sleeper, which remained upright and in only three feet of water, were rescued; six other passengers were rescued and taken to Glenrock, and at least eight survivors are known to have been brought to this city.

At that hour it was believed all of the remaining passengers in the partially submerged cars were drowned, and scores of workers were making every effort to remove the dead bodies.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—More than seventy persons are dead—trapped in three chair cars of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train No. 30—which plunged into Cold Creek at Lockett, a small station 14 miles east of here, shortly before 9 o'clock last night. Engine, tender, baggage express and three chair cars plunged into the flood swollen waters of the river which the weakened supports of the bridge gave way.

The tops of the cars containing the dead were barely visible in the darkness to a large crowd of rescuers and railroad workers, gathered on the bank. A cloud burst early last night converted the usually shallow river into a relentless torrent which swept walls of water twenty feet high down the river's course.

Of the eight survivors brought to Casper shortly after 4 a. m. on a relief train, none was injured, so seriously as to require hospital treatment. All were suffering from nervous shock from their experience and found difficulty in telling a coherent story of the disaster. Their accounts agreed on these details: The engine, tender and baggage car of the train, one of the most heavily traveled into Denver from the northwest had crossed the bridge when the structure collapsed. The express car and three chair cars fell into the flood, dragging the engine tender back into the river.

The first pullman on the train behind the chair cars was precipitated on to the last chair car. It was from this pullman that the majority of the survivors made their escape. Heroism of a pullman porter made their escape possible, they said. He smashed his way to freedom through a window, taking a rope with him which he threw back to the imprisoned passengers after he had gained the river bank. The rope was made fast inside the pullman and the survivors made their escape by pulling themselves hand over hand to the bank.

Daniel J. McQuaid, of Denver, traveling representative of the Taylor Instrument company, of Rochester, N. Y., brought first news from the scene of the wreck. He escaped through a pullman window and made his way to the bank. He headed for the lights of Midwest Oil camp in the Big Muddy oil fields, four miles distant.

Rescue parties were formed at the oil camp at once and sent to the wreck. It was reported that a freight train crossed the bridge at six o'clock last night, less than four hours before the wreck, and at that time there was less than a foot of water in the stream. At the time of the plunge the waters were twenty feet deep.

The ill-fated train, made up at Casper, consisted of cars from the north and northwest destined for points south and east. It left Casper at 8:35 p. m. No names of the dead were available but the Burlington officers gave the names of the crew as follows: Engineer Jackson, of Casper. Conductor Guy Goff, of Cheyenne, Wyo. Brakeman E. J. Klovs, of Cheyenne. Flagman Harold W. Crews, of Cheyenne.

Rescue work was impeded by the storm which caused the wreck. Wires were swept away and a section of track between the wreck and Douglas washed out. Rescue parties from that point were unable to get to the wreck and all rescue work

FRANCE WILL NOT CHANGE ATTITUDE TOWARD GERMANY

Paris, Sept. 28.—France will not consider passive resistance by the Germans ended until coal, iron and steel production in the Ruhr regain its normal and until all Germany "ceases rebellion" against the Versailles treaty, the foreign office announced today.

(Bavaria has served formal notice that she no longer recognizes the treaty of Versailles.) France will maintain her present attitude towards Germany until deliveries in kind are restored, which means that Germany must resume payments in coal, livestock, iron and steel, products and timber such as were made last year before this country will consider passive resistance really at an end. These payments are in addition to those made in gold, stocks and bonds.

The French ambassador at Berlin, M. Marguerite has advised the government that only four or five of the 55 passive resistance ordinances issued from Wilhelmstrasse have been revoked. He stated that the German government announced its purpose of issuing a general decree abolishing all passive resistance decrees, but has not yet done so.

"France will not repeat the blunder of 1918," the foreign office stated. "France will not be satisfied with promises and proclamations."

HOPES AMERICAN INFLUENCE WILL PREVENT CLASH

Sofia, Sept. 28.—Minister of Interior Rousseff declared today that Bulgaria was appealing to American public opinion to prevent war in the Balkans.

"The communist revolution in Bulgaria has been put down," said the minister. "Our chief fear now is invasion by Jugo-Slavia. We are hopeful that American influence will prevent a clash."

It is officially revealed that there were no Americans upon the passenger train isolated by the rebels on the Orient railway.

Gen. Lazaroff, commander of the Sofia garrison, said Government troops were in control everywhere.

OFFICERS IN SESSION

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Group discussion of a series of questions propounded by Colonel Edward Orton, Jr., Columbus, will occupy the attention of the 500 reserve officers attending the second annual convention of the Reserve Officers' Association of Ohio here today and tomorrow. Col. Orton is president of the organization. Saturday the officers will participate in the presentation of flags from the 37th and 53rd divisions, and the 372nd infantry, to the state for preservation.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARR MACFADDEN

The question of the time for going to sleep, and the length of time for sleeping, are so important that they need special emphasis. For reasons which no one really understands, the body is able to recuperate much more perfectly before midnight, the sleep is more profound, the respiration deeper, the oxygenation of the blood more perfect. It has been said that burglars prefer to do their work early in the night for the reason that the occupants of the house are less likely to awake at that time than in the hours approaching dawn. At any rate, the vast experience of the whole human race has so thoroughly demonstrated the greater value of early evening slumber that it has become proverbial to say that two hours of sleep before midnight are worth four hours after.

A man may sleep the same number of hours, be it eight or nine, but if he goes to bed at twelve or one o'clock and gets up at eight or nine, then he does not feel rested or refreshed the same as he would if he went to bed at nine and arose at five or six in the morning. That tired, languid feeling, that weakening sense of lassitude, should show only too clearly that his body has not properly recuperated from the drains made upon it the day and the night before.

And besides it is just as easy to shift the waking and sleeping hours ahead two or three hours, to go to bed somewhere near the end of the day and to get up at the real beginning of the day.

MR. WILLIAM CARPENTER

Mr. William Carpenter, a well-known Westerville man, P. O. address R. F. D. No. 1, aged 67, a tinner by occupation, and the father of four boys, is a staunch friend of Ka-di-ok. In a testimonial given by him recently he said: "Ka-di-ok has never failed to help me. When I first took it I was bothered with kidney trouble and in a few weeks it passed off and I had no further bother with it; not only that it strengthened my system and helped me generally. I made up my mind then that I would always get Ka-di-ok when I required a tonic. A man of my age needs a remedy like Ka-di-ok every once in a while to keep going, and there is no better time to take it than in the spring of the year. I have been a tinner all my life and am not satisfied with myself unless I can keep on the go all the time, and Ka-di-ok has thus far helped me to do this. It is a wonderful remedy and I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

Ka-di-ok is the formula of an oldtime druggist who has been in business over fifty years. It is guaranteed to be free from narcotics or habit forming drugs. It is an equally good remedy for grown-ups or children, and cannot fail to be helpful to any one in a weakened or run-down condition.

Ka-di-ok can be had in Xenia at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store. adv

GREENE COUNTY GRAIN CO. OF JAMESTOWN FAILS—LISTS LIABILITIES AT $50,000

The Greene County Grain Company, a farmer co-operative elevator and marketing business, operating elevators and offices at Jamestown and Bowersville for the last three years, asks dissolution of the corporation and appointment of a receiver in a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney Harry D. Smith.

Assets of the company are given as approximately $30,000, and liabilities as approximately $50,000 by attorney Smith.

There are 104 stockholders all farmers, holding from one to 50 shares of stock most of the shares being in small amounts at $100 a share. D. L. Earley, manager of the company is the largest stockholder, owning 50 shares. Charles Beal and The Xenia Grain Company own 30 shares each. During the last year James E. Lewis has been president and C. D. Lackey, secretary of the company.

Largest creditors of the concern are The Bowersville Bank which holds a note for $17,000 and The Farmers' and Traders' Bank at Jamestown, holding a note for $15,000.

The company stopped business a few days ago, when the real estate and chattels were sold to Mr. Loyd of Washington C. H. who will operate the business. D. L. Earley will continue in his employ as manager.

Attorney Harry D. Smith, counsel for the grain company said Friday that for the firm's financial troubles are not due to mismanagement but to a series of difficulties which confronted it when it went into business in 1921 and from which it was never able to recoup.

All dealers engaged in business that year met with the same trouble, Mr. Smith said. Grain was delivered while damp, in poor condition for shipping. There was great difficulty in obtaining cars and grain held in the condition which it was received mottled and spoiled. The losses occasioned by that condition at the time it was starting into business were such that the company never was able to get on its feet financially.

The petition asking for the appointment of a receiver is brought in the names of eight of the nine directors; William A. Glass, Clarence D. Lackey, Homer X. Smith, Albert E. Lewis, Ray Garringer, James E. Lewis, Samuel Carpenter and James E. Beall. It recites that the company has been conducting an elevator business, buying and selling grain, seed, coal, fencing, tile etc. with its principal place of business at Jamestown. That it has been discovered that the property and effects have been so far reduced by business losses that the company will not be able to pay in full all just demands for which it is liable or to afford a reasonable security to those who deal with it and that it is deemed that it will be beneficial to the interest of the stockholders that the corporation be dissolved.

The petitioners say that "the objects of the company have wholly failed and are entirely abandoned, and the company has disposed of its real estate and chattels and has discontinued operation of business."

Attached to the petition are an inventory of assets, all books vouchers and securities; a full account of the capital stock, names of stockholders number of shares belonging to each; the amount paid on shares at $100 each, the amount still due upon said shares, a statement of all encumbrances and all engagements that have not been fully satisfied or cancelled; the place of residence of each creditor.

Appointment of a master commissioner, designation of a time for hearing the case judgment dissolving the corporation and appointment of a receiver are asked.

The Greene County Grain Company bought the Jamestown property, and the Bowersville property from E. A. Allen. The elevators concerned were formerly the George and Irvin brothers elevator at Jamestown and the Perrill elevator at Bowersville. With the business bought from Allen the company purchased 26 accounts. Attached to the petition are also a list of 225 accounts at the Jamestown office and 60 at the Bowersville office, most of which are said to be good. Besides the Bowersville Bank and Farmers' and Traders' Bank the largest creditors are: C. E. Beal $4000 on a note; W. A. Glass $4000 on note; D. L. Earley $2000 on note. The Xenia Grain Company on note and open account $4000.

YOUTH IS DEAD AT HOME IN LEBANON

Ellis Turner, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner of Lebanon, died Thursday morning at the home of the family in that city after an illness of only a few days from appendicitis. The lad was born near Jamestown in this county. The family removed from Greene County to Morrow and recently moved to Lebanon, where Mr. Turner is now deputy county treasurer of Warren County.

Beside his parents Ellis is survived by three sisters and one brother. Funeral services will be held at the home in Lebanon Saturday afternoon at one o'clock and the body will be taken to Port William where burial will be made in the Port William cemetery.

CROSS IS BURNED NEAR RESIDENCE THURSDAY NIGHT

A wooden cross fastened to a side fence at the home of Mrs. Josephine Kennedy, 604 West Second Street, was burned at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

This is the second cross to be burned this week, one having been burned in the yard of the residence of the Rev. A. A. Burke, pastor of St. Brigid's Catholic Church, Monday evening. It is believed the same parties are responsible for both.

The cross was fastened to a fence bordering the side of the Kennedy property and belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad. When the cross was discovered by Miss Mary Kennedy, City Hall employee, the fence had caught fire. The cross was rudely constructed and straw was tied to it to make it burn rapidly.

Miss Kennedy knocked the cross from the fence and Bernard Donovan, a passer by, extinguished the fire with a bucket of water.

WOODS IS PRAISED FOR AID TO JAPAN.

The outstanding personality in the relief work in Tokio has been Ambassador Cyrus Woods. Although his house burned over his head, all his personal effects were lost and his mother and wife were endangered, he opened within twenty-four hours a temporary embassy in the Imperial Hotel and provided every comfort and assistance possible to all foreigners, of whatever nationality.

Later he tried to find a method of helping the Japanese develop a program of permanent reconstruction. The American Embassy was first to reorganize, although other embassies were not burned.

Shanghai is full of anti-Japanese rumors, but the stories of Japanese incompetence are exaggerated. They did the best possible under the circumstances. Two million homeless within a few hours made a problem so enormous that it is impossible to expect the machine to work smoothly in every part. Your correspondent spent eleven days in Tokio and Yokohama during the earthquake period and realizes Japan's bravery in facing the colossal task of meeting the destruction of the country's heart and the probable loss of the fruits of fifty years' labor to become a great Power.

The Japanese people are facing the greatest calamity in the world's history manfully. Mistakes here and there must be expected in such a catastrophe.

In Tokio, Yokohama and Kobe enthusiastic expressions of gratefulness for America's friendship and assistance have been heard. The Japanese today regard the United States as their sincerest friend, coming to their aid even before the Japanese themselves realized their terrible loss.

A DRY-LAW CONFERENCE.

President Coolidge will call the forty-eight Governors of these United States to Washington. With these executives he will consider the state of the Nation with respect to the enforcement of Federal laws. On the word of the White House, it is understood that immigration, narcotic and the dry statutes will be discussed.

Of these, the last will, of course, be first. Had there been no Eighteenth Amendment there would be little need for this conference of Governors. The very heart and core of the session will be prohibition. The President and as many of the forty-eight Governors as attend will find themselves facing the blunt question of whether the States shall honestly, fully and energetically put the weight of their authority and their police powers behind the Federal statutes. They will be reminded that these were enacted by the Congress in the name of all the people of all the states, and these State executives will be asked to enforce them.

New York has refused to enact a State enforcement act. New Jersey is like-minded. So is Maryland, if recent political developments there mean anything. The same spirit of nullification exists in other States. This may or may not be reflected in the conference, which is facing the necessity of deciding whether the law of the land or the appetites, cravings and wishes of a part of its peoples shall be supreme.

A GUIDE FOR NEWSPAPER MEN.

An insight into our late president's character will be gained by reading his instructions to reporters and writers on the Marion "Star." They are as follows:

Remember there are two sides to every question. Get them both.

Be truthful. Get the facts.

Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than a hundred half wrong. Be decent, be fair, be generous.

Boost—don't knock. There's good in everybody. Bring out the good and never needlessly hurt the feeling of anybody.

In reporting a political gathering give the facts, tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it. Treat all parties alike. If there is any politics to be played, we will play it in our editorial columns. Treat all religious matters reverentially.

If it can possibly be avoided, never bring ignominy to an innocent man or child in telling of the misdeeds or misfortunes of a relative.

Don't wait to be asked, but do it without the asking, and above all be clean and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type. I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child.

There was a scene of wild excitement which amounted to a panic on a Dayton and Xenia

Built by the American People

THE Railroads were not built by railroad men, and they are not owned by railroad men. They were built by the merchants and farmers of the United States, and they are now owned indirectly by all the people of the United States.

The whole splendid system of railroads as it exists today was built with capital, energy and brains furnished by American business men and American farmers with the high purpose of developing the commercial and agricultural interests of the country.

Every one knows that as soon as the iron horse drew his shadow across the land the farms which the Government could scarcely give away suddenly jumped in value to fifty or a hundred dollars an acre, because the railroads had supplied them with the means of development, production and distribution.

When the railroads are making plenty of money, every shop is humming a song of happiness and every farm is growing rich.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

I DID NOT WEEP
I did not weep to see him dead
Because upon his face,
I saw a smile of glory spread,
A touch of Heavenly grace.

And though my form he could not see,
I fancied that he knew
That I was there, and spoke to me
The way he used to do.

I fancied that I heard him say,
Who battled long with pain:
"A miracle occurred today,
And I am well again!"

I did not cough last night, and wake
From fever's restless sleep
To wait to see the morning break
And hear the wagons creep.

'And I am well and I am strong,
And glad am I today,
The burden I have borne so long
Has now been put away.'

And, standing in that darkened place,
The smile of long ago
Which God had left upon his face
Told me 'twas better so.

Today's Talk

THE OPEN HEART

The world's heart has been opened by the great catastrophe in Japan. That is the life of the heart—to open when there is the call of love, or pity, or need. And then to close and nourish when its great work has been started.

I was impressed by two items that appeared in the newspapers recently. One said that Japan's misfortune would set her back twenty years. Another that the American fleet was steaming at full speed to aid the suffering and starving on the unhappy island.

Japan's fallen and crushed cities and homes will rise again, greater than ever. Her people will be more courageous than ever—and it won't take her twenty years to become convinced that there are friends all about her.

I am glad that the American fleet went to help and to build, and not to destroy. It shows that fleets can be made to be of great service to humanity.

Misfortune and calamity make kinsmen of us all. When everything is coming our way and success smiles particularly wide, we are apt to forget and grow self-centered and selfish. But when we are shoved into the very pit of adversity, we see afresh. And then it is we know we have hearts with doors to them.

The open heart of the world is much more important to mankind than "the open door" for the flow of gold and commerce.

Many a stricken heart in Japan will open with a flow of appreciation and gratitude as those battleships steam into port. And every time you open your heart for the giving of happiness to others, you may be sure that love and happiness will fill it to overflowing again.

Keep your heart open. Even let the unworthy in. If you make it warm and beautiful enough, no one can possibly depart unworthy or unhappy.

AGED MAN KILLED AND THREE HURT AS KLAN CARS COLLIDE

Springfield, O., Sept. 28.—J. H. Donahoe, 68, South Limestone Street, was killed, and three injured when two machines carrying klansmen to and from a meeting near South Charleston collided on the South Charleston pike about eight o'clock Thursday night.

The injured are C. G. Mapes, 410 West Fairview Avenue, Dayton, fractured collar bone and lacerations. Sidney E. Lutz, 29 West Mulberry St., shock and severe wounds on head. Irvin Standley, 318 Bellevue Street, severe wound on head.

The wrecked cars were Fords. Irvin Standley driving one machine was returning to Springfield with four other klansmen, J. H. Donahoe, who was killed, Sidney Lutz, Harry Kraus and Victor Colvin. The two latter were uninjured.

Driving the other car which was taking Klansmen to South Charleston was L. J. Thomas, 395 Rose Street. With him were C. G. Mapes, O. H. Rust and two unknown men. Mapes was the only one in the car who was hurt.

According to Thomas' story he was driving slowly toward South Charleston, and had crossed the bridge when the other car, carrying blinding headlights bore down upon him at the rate of 35 miles an hour swerved and struck his car, the front wheels of the two cars catching. The Thomas car was overturned and Thomas was pinned beneath it. Swerving again the Standley machine continued across the bridge and overturned.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF RELATIVE THURSDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. George Ary, of Ansonia, former Xenia, were held Thursday afternoon in Ansonia with burial made there.

Mrs. Ary had left Xenia about 20 years ago. Her son, Estle Ary, was killed in the World War on the last day of hostilities and the family never received any information regarding his death. Grief is believed to have resulted in Mrs. Ary's death.

The American Legion Post at Ansonia, has been named for the young man. Among relatives who attended the funeral services were Mrs. Louisa Fawcett of Paintersville, Mrs. Levi Smith of Jamestown, Mrs. Edith Curl and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fisher of this city.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

FARMERS SHOULD WAIT UNTIL OCTOBER 1 BEFORE SEEDING WHEAT PRINCE ADVISES

Experience of the past five years has shown that October first, is a safe wheat seeding date for Greene County farmers. All farmers should aim to seed on or after that date, according to County Agricultural Agent, Ford S. Prince.

Although the Hessian fly is scarce in the wheat stubble this year, enough is present to cause serious damage if early seeding is practiced. It should be the aim of the farmers who have ploughed the wheat stubble, to disk up and kill all volunteer wheat before planting, as volunteer wheat will spread and cause a menace to next year's crop, according to Mr. Prince.

With slight modifications, due to a gain of the Hessian Fly in the wheat of certain northeastern Ohio counties, the safe-seeding dates that have been followed by farmers during the past few years will be observed again this fall. County agricultural agents have announced locally the precise dates at which from observing the emergence of adult flies, it is deemed safe to seed wheat in the various counties.

Russia Sends a Woman Envoy to Norway

Madame Alexandra Kollontay is the only woman Ambassador, in the world, being Soviet Russia's Minister to Norway, a post she has occupied since October 1922. She is the only woman ever named a member of the Executive Committee of the Communist Party and was head of the Department of Public Welfare in 1917-1918. Madame Kollontay organized the women of Russia from 1918 to 1922 before being sent to Norway. For nine years before the revolution she was a political emigre, living in different parts of Europe, where she learned French English and German.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks to our neighbors and friends who were so kind during the sickness and death of our husband and father. We also extend heartfelt thanks to Rev. Scott for his consoling words. Thanks for the kindness of Mr. Neel and also the beautiful floral tribute. The bereaved.

These safe dates will run from about September 20 in Ashtabula and Lake counties, on the Erie lake shore, to October 4 or later in the most southern of the river counties. The safe date in each county is immediately after the fall brood of Hessian Fly has emerged from buried flaxseeds in wheat or barley stubble, and sought young wheat to feed upon. The idea is to have no wheat there. If this is done the pest perishes within a few days.

Until it was found that by delayed sowing the Hessian Fly could be starved out, this insect was wheat's worst enemy in Ohio. In 1920, 44 per cent of the Ohio crop was infested, a disastrously high percentage. By concerted safe sowing the farmers reduced this infestation by 1922 to an average of 11 per cent and the past year to a state average of 4 per cent. When infestation reaches 10 per cent, it begins to show in the check that the farmer receives for his crop.

Unanimity in the observance of safe dates will be necessary, say university and experiment station entomologists, to do away with the trouble entirely. As little as 2 per cent of the wheat acreage of a county sown too early and found by the fly may serve to perpetuate the pest, they say.

AMERICAN PLANES IN INTERNATIONAL RACE EASY WINNERS

Cowes, England, Sept. 28—America today won the Schneider cup in the international race of navy seaplanes. England and France competed against America.

Lieutenant Rittenhouse piloted the successful American plane. His machine attained the speed of 177 miles an hour. His total time for the course was one hour, 12 minutes 26 4-5 seconds.

America took second place as well as first, Lieut. Irving piloting the second machine. Great Britain was third.

The American victory was a blow to the British as they were confident that the superior strength of their machines would enable them to win.

RAIN EXPECTED TO RELIEVE WEATHER FOR FOOTBALL GAME

Rain Friday morning brought hint of a relief from the oppressive heat which was expected to play havoc with the scheduled season-opening football game between Central High and Wilmington at the new Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Indications were that the weather would be so warm players would be unable to play their best and little real football was expected to accrue. The rain, although not bringing a lower temperature, at least promised that the moleskin stars would not have to do their stuff under the rays of a blazing sun.

A little dampness on Cox Field will improve the turf for football, if the rain does not reach too great proportions.

MAY PREFER CHARGE

FOOTBALL SWINGS INTO REAL ACTION AS CENTRAL OPENS

With September about to step off into space, high school and college football is striking its stride over the country.

There were a few desultory shots fired in the 1923 grid campaign last week end, but these will be drowned out Friday and Saturday by the roars emanating from thousands of oblongs from coast to coast.

Local interest lies in the initial clash Friday afternoon between Central High and Wilmington High. Both teams are starting their season and the game will be an important test combat for Coach Earl Burger's terrors, most of whom will be newly tried. He has impressed upon his athletes that winning this game is the most important accomplishment in the book.

Cedarville College, which last week took a beating at the hands of Antioch at Yellow Springs, should show considerably better form at Cedarville Saturday against Findlay. The week's practice since the Yellow Springs game should show Coach John A. Talcott the weak points in his combination and the extra practice should help the Cedarville lads to overcome loose tackling and loose ball toting.

Antioch College is going to find the afternoon pastime at Springfield Friday very strenuous, for the reason that Coach Earl Prugh's pastimers are going out of their way to meet Wittenberg College on the oblong. Antioch will take considerable of a beating in which Coach King Godfrey will get a line on his men for the big Conference campaign.

The University of Dayton and both Dayton High Schools will also be busy this week end.

NEW WITTENBERG STADIUM WILL BE USED FIRST TIME

Springfield, O., Sept. 28—Wittenberg's new $100,000 stadium was to be formally opened today.

President L. E. Tuloss, of the Lutheran Institution, was to head a large number of notables who will march to the field.

The football squad will lead the entire student body of the college and Dr. Tuloss will then kick the first football to be booted on the new athletic field. The game will be with Antioch College.

However, the dedication will not take place until Oct. 20, when Ohio Wesleyan will furnish the opposition.

FINE METED OUT IN POLICE COURT AFTER POLICE STAGE RAIDS

Carl Pearson, 226 N. Galloway St., was fined $300 and costs by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court Thursday afternoon on a charge of possessing liquor.

Pearson was arrested by police who raided his home Thursday afternoon. They confiscated one-half pint of corn whiskey found in a cupboard, some empty bottles that had evidently contained liquor, and a boiler believed to have been used as a still.

The arrest was the only one made as the result of a number of liquor raids in which the police were active, on warrants and evidence obtained by a special dry detective operating for the city. Chief of Police M. E. Graham was in charge of the raiding party which included Patrolmen Thompson, Boyles, Sowards and Spencer and dry detectives. "Water hauls" were found at other places raided.

REBEL LEADER ELUDES ARREST

Above is a splendid camera study of General von Luttwitz, German army commander in the World War, who instigated the now famous "Kapp Putsch" and who up to the present time has managed to escape arrest by the German authorities seeking him.

Styles BY LENORE

She's so scared at having her picture in the paper that her dolly's feelings are forgotten, but she stands up bravely to show us her smart new number frock, which rises to heights of youthful chic by a clever arrangement of the Roman scarf. Against the background of dark blue rep the colors are striking, and the embroidered motif is like the last note which comes like an echo at the end of a musical composition. A most practical frock this, for Miss Six-to-Twelve.

A charming arrangement of printed foulard on navy serge points the way to a flattering frock for the older girl.

There is marked variety in the materials favored in clothes for young people. Jersey, challis, plain and striped flannels are extensively used in school and play frocks. A lovely party dress is made of sapphire blue velvet, with cream Georgette in the frill at the neck. Velvet striped in two shades of rose is used for another; and crepe de chine, with some taffetas are certain to be among those present wherever smart children's clothes are to be seen.

WATER USERS MUST PROVIDE METERS; SPEEDING SCORED

All water users in the city will be required to install water meters at once, according to the terms of a resolution placed on its first reading by the City Commission Thursday night.

The new resolution provides that the City Manager be directed to order all subscribers to install meters within 90 days of the passage of the resolution. City Auditor T. H. Zell, head of the water department, says 85 per cent of the connections in the city are now metered. When the city took over the water plant there were only five per cent metered.

Discussion of the new flooring for the Monroe St. viaduct occupied considerable of the attention of the commissioners Thursday night. Representatives of the Baker Bros. Co., Washington C. H., discussed means of repairing the viaduct floor with the commissioners.

Assignment of Night Desk Sergeant Howard Confer of the Police Department, to re-establish the police speed department in order to break up alleged speeding and reckless driving may follow discussion that occupied attention of Commissioners. Demand for police control of the menace was championed by several members. Confer is said to be willing to give part time to the campaign.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, E. A. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

"KIMONA PARADE" IS HELD BY CEDARVILLE CO-EDS THURSDAY

Girls of Cedarville College succeeded in putting on their annual "kimona parade" Thursday night without the interference of boy students, whom they successfully eluded until the frolic was almost concluded. The refreshments were also kept intact from the pilfering hands of the boys.

Sixty girl students met at the home of Miss Winnifred Stuckey, and from there went in cars to the home of Miss Mary Townsley, half a mile from town. Efforts of the boys to learn where they were bound were defeated, and each girl successfully eluded the boys in making her way from her home to the home of Miss Stuckey.

Leaving the Townsley home about midnight the girls donned their kimona and paraded about town to the accompaniment of drums and a variety of noise making instruments. They called at homes of faculty members and roused them from their slumbers.

The girls were chaperoned by several women members of the faculty

PLUMBERS WILL BE LICENSED IF NEW ORDINANCE PASSES

An ordinance licensing plumbers and regulating installation and alteration of plumbing was placed on its first reading by the City Commission Thursday night in answer to a demand for city regulation.

The ordinance provides that all plumbers must obtain a city license to practice their trade, making application in writing to the City Manager and giving their name, residence address, place of business, number of years they have worked at the trade, and furnishing an agreement to abide by the law.

License fees will be $10 annually expiring each December 31, and in addition the plumber must furnish bond in the sum of $2,000. Records of the licenses will be kept by the Manager, and duplicates by the Director of Public Health and the Superintendent of the Water Works according to the provisions of the new ordinance.

Other regulations regarding licensing for connecting water and sewer lines will still be in force. Violators of the ordinance will have their licenses revoked by the City Manager after a hearing before him and people who take water or sewer lines without permission may be charged with a misdemeanor and fined not to exceed $100 according to the terms of the proposed ordinance.

DONAHEY ISSUES PROCLAMATION

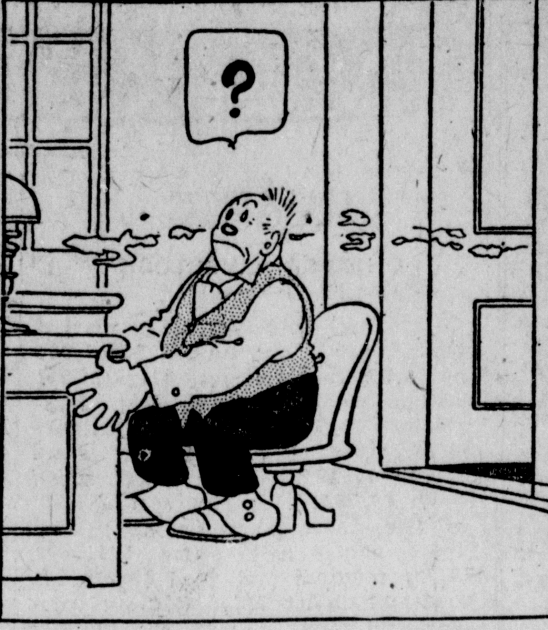

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Governor Donahey issued a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 7 to 13 as "Fire Prevention Week" in Ohio. The governor asked that special attention be given during the week to the elimination of fire hazards, pointing out that the fire losses in Ohio during the last year amounted to $14,000,000 and cost 376 lives. "Our fire losses having become a serious matter, vitally affecting the welfare of the state, the assistance of all the people is necessary in order effectively to check this economic waste," he stated.

JOAN ARGUES ABOUT PROHIBITION

Chapter XXXIX

Paul had telephoned he was bringing Dave Logan home to dinner. It was very seldom now that he did, and I made every effort to have the meal all it should be, Joan, like her father, was artistic, and often I would coax her to set the table, arrange a centerpiece of flowers. She had just finished her task when Paul and Dave came in.

"Come into the dining room and we will try it," Paul said as they greeted me. I saw that Dave had a parcel under his arm. I followed.

Paul got glasses and ice, then opened the bottle. He and Dave took a drink. Then Dave said: "This is the real stuff, Ruby. Better put most of it away for medicine. It's getting hard to find nowadays."

"Not so hard if one has the money and knows how," Paul said.

I noticed Joan listened and tried to send her from the room, but she remained and to my surprise she asked "You don't believe in prohibition, do you, Dad?"

"No, nor in any law that tries to tell people what they shall eat or drink."

"Nor you don't, Mr. Logan," she said to Dave.

"Not me!" Dave replied. "We all carry it on our hips eh, Paul instead of having the bottle on the table. But what is it to you young lady?" he turned to Joan.

"Oh nothing! I just wanted to know what you thought about it that's all. I guess almost everybody breaks the law."

"I shouldn't wonder" Dave replied with a chuckle, then as Joan left the room for a moment, he said: "Joan's a bright kid."

The next morning I put what was left of the whiskey away, taking especial pains to say to Joan:

"I'll keep it for sickness as Dave advised."

"If it's wrong for me to drink it, why isn't it wrong for Dad to drink it?" it's all right for him to break the law, why is it so wrong from Clem to break it?"

"You and young Sanders are little more than children. You cannot do many things your elders can do." I wanted to say it was wrong for Paul as well as for her but never had I allowed myself to criticize him to his children.

"But a law is a law, isn't it?" Joan argued cleverly. "If it is wrong for me to break it, why isn't it wrong for Dad and Mr. Logan to break it? I may be young but I can reason, and I can't for the life of me see where a thing can be right for one and not for another. You think Clem Sanders a bad fellow because he had a bottle on his hip; but Dad and Dave Logan do the same thing and it's all right."

"Not dear, it's not all right" I returned. "But men like Dad and Dave know how to handle themselves better than a boy like Clem." I knew I had not answered her argument but what could I say more without condemning her father? With a sniff and a shrug of her shoulders Joan left the room while I, feeling helpless, could only pray she would keep her promise.

But I made up my mind to speak to Paul, tell him of Joan's argument, beg him not to bring anything home or have Dave and caution him about making light of drinking of breaking the law.

When I did so he laughed at her arguments, saying she had been reading what some political crank had to say through the newspapers, and told me I should be old enough not to pay any attention to what a child said.

"But please don't talk or drink before her" I pleaded. "She is headstrong, and perhaps the young people she goes with aren't as particular as they might be. I hate to have her think breaking the laws of the country is sort of a joke. No one can tell what might come of it." I had said all I could without telling the reason for my fears, and I realized it had accomplished nothing.

"I never saw such woman," Paul said. "When you haven't any real troubles you make imaginary ones so you'll have something to worry about." Imaginary trouble! I knew only too well it was terribly real.

SEVENTY-SEVEN DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

COURT ACTION EXPECTED TO END KLAN WAR

Opposing Forces In Oklahoma Fight Agree to Legal Course

HEARING TUESDAY

Case Will Be Carried To Supreme Court Speedily As Possible.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—State Supreme Court Justices, after a conference today decided to defer consideration of legal technicalities in the way of a special election October 2 until the entire court of seven justices are present, which will not be until tomorrow. Two of the justices were out of the city today.

At the same time, it was reported Gov. J. C. Walton was planning to block voting next Tuesday on "initiative petition No. 79" which provides for an amendment to the constitution permitting the legislature to convene by a majority call. It is technical in nature and the supreme court must clear up before the election is held.

The governor who used the military to prevent the legislature from assembling for the purpose of impeaching him, is expected to oppose the election on the contention his proclamation calling for a vote Oct. 2 on five proposals did not include the legislative proposal. The proposal was initiated by Campbell Russell, former corporation commissioner.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—By agreement of the opposing forces, the supreme court of Oklahoma will determine who's who in the legislative row and Governor Walton, it is stated on reliable authority, will abide by that decision.

The threatened clash at arms came to a sudden halt when the insurgent legislators filed their bill for an injunction to restrain the governor from further interference with their plans to meet and impeach him. Sixty-seven members of the house of representatives in the legal session, or thirteen more than the constitutional majority, signed the petition for the injunction.

The petition was presented to Judge J. I. Phelps of the district court of Oklahoma. By agreement of counsel for both sides the hearing was set for next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock before Judge Phelps.

As soon as the district court renders a decision, whichever side loses will immediately appeal to the state supreme court, which sits here in Oklahoma City and is prepared to hear the case speedily. In the meantime the legislators have agreed not to attempt any action against the governor to assemble in any way until after the supreme court has spoken.

For the first time in the history of the courts in this country, it was stated by counsel in the litigation, the question finally is to be passed on by a high court as to whether a state legislature, once it has adjourned sine die, can revive itself for impeachment proceedings without submitting to a call by the governor for such extraordinary session.

A second important question that will be raised will be as to whether the governor of a state has the power to establish martial law that supersedes the highest courts of the state. Both of these questions will be raised in the demurrer that will be filed Tuesday morning by counsel for the governor.

The petition for the injunction is directed against Attorney General Markham of the Oklahoma national guard, who, obeying the orders of the governor who is the commander-in-chief of the forces within the state, denied the legislators the right to assemble in the hall of representatives.

REDUCTION OF FREIGHT RATES TO FOLLOW REPEAL OF "GUARANTEE CLAUSE"

Coolidge Administration Expects to Replace Compulsory Program and Restore Rate Fixing Powers to Commerce Commission

Washington, Sept. 28. The Coolidge administration has virtually decided to repeal the "guarantee clause" of the transportation act as means of bringing about a general reduction of freight rates early next year, International News Service learned today. This plan will be substituted by President Coolidge in the next Congress for the compulsory railroad consolidation program advocated by his predecessor, the late President Harding, according to reliable authority. The Coolidge proposal probably will include restoration to the interstate commerce commission of the rate fixing powers held prior to government operation of the railroads.

Repeal of the "guarantee clause"—section 15-A—will have the support of all administration leaders in Congress. It is understood Republican leaders urged this action up the president as the only possible government action toward reducing high transportation costs, a step demanded by farm organizations throughout the country. Although the compulsory consolidation program has been worked upon by government agencies for a year past, the plan has met a veritable storm of opposition not only from railroad executives but from legislators and representatives of farm organizations as well.

An administration measure—carrying amendments to the present transportation act—is now being prepared by Senator Albert B. Cummins, Republican of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee and coauthor of the railroad bill. This piece of legislation, it was said, will propose the repeal of the "guarantee clause." Senator Cummins who favored the consolidation plan, has been won over to the proposal.

The so-called "guarantee clause" has been a bone of contention among farm organizations which blamed existing high freight rates on the transportation act. The clause, at present, directs the interstate commerce commission to fix rates which will provide "a fair return" on the valuation of railroads.

Up until July 1 the rates fixed by the commission have been calculated to bring the railroads profits averaging less than six per cent figures on their valuation. The rates, fixed by the commission under this authority are still in effect. In some instances the rates are said to actually provide returns as high as eight per cent and as low as four per cent.

The federal trade commission, in a report to President Coolidge today urged an immediate reduction in freight rates. It pointed out in statistics that the "spread" in prices of grains from the farmer to the consumer and showed a great part of the distribution cost was charged off to the railroads. In 1919-1920 the commission reported the cost of marketing wheat was 33.20 cents per bushel of which 14.31 cents went to transportation costs. This was an increase of 3.23 cents a bushel over the transportation costs for the years 1912-1917. A similar increase of 4.33 cents per bushel in transportation costs for the same periods was noted in the marketing of corn. Besides the reduction of freight rates, the commission urged more cooperative marketing by farmers to reduce the "spread."

FARMERS URGE AID FROM PRESIDENT IN MEETING THURSDAY

Would Have Congress Called in Special Session for Help

Washington, Sept. 28.—President Coolidge heard from the mouths of "dirt" farmers and agricultural bankers from the affected states the story of desperate conditions in the wheat belt of the central northwest and their earnest appeals for help from their government.

The delegation urged the necessity of immediate relief and asked, to make this possible, that congress be called into special session. Among the definite proposals submitted to the president were the revival of the United States Grain corporation, with a revolving fund of $50,000,000 and a deep cut on freight rates for farm products.

The request was made for a further increase in the tariff on wheat, under the power granted the president through the flexible tariff provision of the Fordney-McCumber law. The only mention of the tariff, it was stated, was in connection with the agitation by paint manufacturers for a reduction of the duty on flax. The farmers are solidly against this proposal.

President Coolidge enhanced his reputation as a good listener and asked many questions to elicit further information, but in no way committed himself or intimated what action he will take. It was asserted that Mr. Coolidge expressed a keen desire, if possible, to find some "economically sound and workable plan" of relief. No suggestion came from him as to the line he thinks this plan may follow.

Mr. Coolidge told the delegation at the conclusion of the hearing that he will meet later with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and go over with them very carefully the facts of the situation and all possible methods of solving the problem.

The farmers explained at the outset, it was said, that they did not come to ask price stabilization by direct government price fixing. The wheat growers, the president was told, want help in marketing and price stabilization only insofar as it may be attained in this way.

President Coolidge requested Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to begin the immediate formulation of an executive program for farmer relief. The program will have for its principal feature the re-establishment of the United States Grain corporation, which was recommended to Coolidge and Wallace by the farmers' committee. The farmers were informed that their recommendations would be embodied in the Wallace plan, with such modification as the secretary may see fit to make.

PASSENGERS DROWNED AS BRIDGE GIVES AWAY DROPPING COACHES INTO WATERS OF SWOLLEN STREAM

TELL OF WRECK.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Two survivors of the appalling wreck of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train No. 30, gave the first graphic eye witness stories of the sudden disaster which snuffed out 70 lives. Daniel J. McQuaid, of Denver, salesman for a Rochester, N. Y., optical firm, struggled four miles through mud and rain to reach Big Muddy Oil fields. McQuaid telephoned to his wife, who was in Denver, details of the wreck, declaring he had just escaped from the worst wreck in western railway history, but that he was not injured.

Harry Wyatt, the other survivor who has told his story, did not give his address.

I was in the Denver sleeping car," Mr. McQuaid said to his wife, "when the crash came. The car seemed to turn completely over and stand on end. I crawled out the door, which was only a few feet away, and managed to get out of the car. Noticing the lights in the distance I started for them. I walked four miles, I since learned, before I reached the Big Muddy Oil fields. I at first thought I was the only one out of the whole train who managed to escape alive. There were five or six men in the smoking compartment ahead of me. It is almost certain they were drowned. They couldn't possibly have gotten out of that place."

Wyatt dramatically told of how he saw a few men and women struggle through windows and doors of the coaches, climb to the top and cling there while the water swished about the train. "They hung there and screamed for help," he said, "while the water roared by in a stream that defied any one to reach the unfortunate people. It was a torrent. No man could swim it."

FEDERAL DRY UNIT CORRUPT CAPITAL POLICE DECLARE

Washington, Sept. 28.—Charging that the Washington prohibition unit is a hotbed of corruption, police officials of the capital have served notice upon Federal Commissioner Haynes that they will withdraw their cooperation in enforcement activities unless he effects wholesale reforms. The commissioner has been given 48 hours, it was learned, to dismiss at least six agents attached to the local prohibition unit. Unless he complies, it is stated, the whole enforcement program will have to be handled by federal agents. The decision was reached at a secret conference attended by police department heads. Commissioner Haynes was not to be present, but sent Rice Howe, an attorney attached to his office.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST PROPOSED OLD AGE PENSION IS STARTED

Columbus, Sept. 28.—The establishment of a speakers bureau and the organization of the state by counties were developments today in the organized opposition to the proposed referendum on the old age pension bill by commercial and agricultural organizations and individuals. Representatives of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, several manufacturers associations, chambers of commerce, the Ohio Board of Commerce, the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, and similar organizations in a meeting here adopted a resolution announcing their "purpose to devote every energy to the defeat of the law at the November election."

Detrimental effects of the proposed law, according to the resolution are that it will force a great increase in taxes; discourage saving and oppress small property owners, create a powerful political machine in its pension bureaus; allow both husband and wife to draw a pension; make the state a goal for the improvident from other states and create a new class of dependents.

CLOUD BURST TURNS CREEK INTO TORRENT

Pullman Porter Rises to Role of Hero and Assists Imprisoned Passengers To Safety—Rescue Work Still Going On

Denver, Colo., Sept. 28.—The Casper wreck on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad has been "greatly exaggerated," according to L. C. McBride, assistant superintendent of that road with headquarters here, who declared at 10 o'clock today that his information places the dead at not in excess of 20 persons.

The statement was in direct conflict with reports from railroad employees in Casper and Glenrock.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—At least 77 persons are believed to be drowned in the wreck of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train No. 30, which plunged off a bridge into Cold Creek, at Lockett, 15 miles east of Casper, late last night.

At 8 o'clock this morning officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad estimated that between 115 and 120 passengers were on the train when it left Casper at 8:35 last night.

Twenty eight occupants of the Denver sleeper, which remained upright and in only three feet of water, were rescued; six other passengers were rescued and taken to Glenrock, and at least eight survivors are known to have been brought to this city.

At that hour it was believed all of the remaining passengers in the partially submerged cars were drowned, and scores of workers were making every effort to remove the dead bodies.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—More than seventy persons are dead—trapped in three chair cars of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train No. 30—which plunged into Cold Creek at Lockett, a small station 14 miles east of here, shortly before 9 o'clock last night.

Engine, tender, baggage express and three chair cars plunged into the flood swollen waters of the river where the weakened supports of the bridge gave way.

The tops of the cars containing the dead were barely visible in the darkness to a large crowd of rescuers and railroad workers, gathered on the bank.

A cloud burst early last night converted the usually shallow river into a relentless torrent which swept walls of water twenty feet high down the river's course.

Of the eight survivors brought to Casper shortly after 4 a. m. on a relief train, none was injured, so seriously as to require hospital treatment. All were suffering from nervous shock from their experience and found difficulty in telling a coherent story of the disaster.

Their accounts agreed on these details: The engine, tender and baggage car of the train, one of the most heavily traveled into Denver from the northwest had crossed the bridge when the structure collapsed.

The express car and three chair cars fell into the flood, dragging the engine tender back into the river.

The first pullman on the train behind the chair cars was precipitated on to the last chair car. It was from this pullman that the majority of the survivors made their escape.

Heroism of a pullman porter made their escape possible, they said. He smashed his way to freedom through a window, taking a rope with him which he threw back to the imprisoned passengers after he had gained the river bank. The rope was made fast inside the pullman and the survivors made their escape by pulling themselves hand over hand to the bank.

Daniel J. McQuaid, of Denver, traveling representative of the Taylor Instrument company, of Rochester, N. Y., brought first news from the scene of the wreck. He escaped through a pullman window and made his way to the bank. He headed for the lights of Midwest Oil camp in the Big Muddy oil fields, four miles distant.

Rescue parties were formed at the oil camp at once and sent to the wreck.

It was reported that a freight train crossed the bridge at six o'clock last night, less than four hours before the wreck, and at that time there was less than a foot of water in the stream. At the time of the plunge the waters were twenty feet deep.

The ill-fated train, made up at Casper, consisted of cars from the north and northwest destined for points south and east. It left Casper at 8:35 p. m.

No names of the dead were available but the Burlington officers gave the names of the crew as follows:

Engineer Jackson, of Casper. Conductor Guy Goff, of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Brakeman E. J. Klove, of Cheyenne. Flagman Harold W. Crews, of Cheyenne.

Rescue work was impeded by the storm which caused the wreck. Wires were swept away and a section of track between the wreck and Douglas washed out. Rescue parties from that point were unable to get to the wreck and all rescue work

FRANCE WILL NOT CHANGE ATTITUDE TOWARD GERMANY

Paris, Sept. 28.—France will not consider passive resistance by the Germans ended until coal, iron and steel production in the Ruhr again is normal and until all Germany "ceases rebellion" against the Versailles treaty, the foreign office announced today.

France will maintain her present attitude towards Germany until deliveries in kind are restored, which means that Germany must resume payments in coal, livestock, iron and steel, products and timber such as were made last year before this country will consider passive resistance really at an end. These payments are in addition to those made in gold, stocks and bonds.

The French ambassador at Berlin, M. Marguerite has advised the government that only four or five of the 55 passive resistance ordinances issued from Wilhelmstrasse have been revoked. He stated that the German government announced its purpose of issuing a general decree abolishing all passive resistance decrees, but has not yet done so.

"France will not repeat the blunder of 1918," the foreign office stated. "France will not be satisfied with promises and proclamations."

HOPES AMERICAN INFLUENCE WILL PREVENT CLASH

Sofia, Sept. 28.—Minister of Interior Rousseff declared today that Bulgaria was appealing to American public opinion to prevent war in the Balkans.

"The communist revolution in Bulgaria has been put down," said the minister. "Our chief fear now is invasion by Jugo-Slavia. We are hopeful that American influence will prevent a clash."

It is officially revealed that there were no Americans upon the passenger train isolated by the rebels on the Orient railway.

Gen. Lazaroff, commander of the Sofia garrison, said Government troops were in control everywhere.

OFFICERS IN SESSION

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Group discussion of a series of questions propounded by Colonel Edward Orton, Jr., Columbus, will occupy the attention of the 500 reserve officers attending the second annual convention of the Reserve Officers' Association of Ohio here today and tomorrow. Col. Orton is president of the organization. Saturday the officers will participate in the presentation of flags from the 37th and 83rd divisions, and the 372nd infantry, to the state for preservation.

ANTIOCH GIRLS TO ASSIST AT OPENING OF ELECTRIC HOME

The girl students of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, will act as hostesses at the formal opening of the electrical home on Sant Cruz avenue, Dayton, Saturday afternoon.

Girls who will be in charge of the house are: the Misses Elizabeth Wright, Margaret Weimer, Eleanor Brough, Freda Snyder, Pauline Dougherty, Evelyn Stafford, Carol Steffanson, Genevieve Connor, Elizabeth Nichols and Jean Teegarden.

The program in connection with the house-opening will include talks by Mayor Frank B. Hale and Mrs. W. G. Clagett, president of the Dayton Federation of Woman's Clubs. The college girls will explain the various conveniences.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

The question of the time for going to sleep, and the length of time for sleeping, are so important that they need special emphasis. For reasons which no one really understands, the body is able to recuperate much more perfectly before midnight, the sleep is more profound, the respiration deeper, the oxygenation of the blood more perfect. It has been said that burglars prefer to do their work early in the night for the reason that the occupants of the house are less likely to awake at that time than in the hours approaching dawn. At any rate, the vast experience of the whole human race has so thoroughly demonstrated the greater value of early evening slumber that it has become proverbial to say that two hours of sleep before midnight are worth four hours after.

A man may sleep the same number of hours, be it eight or nine, but if he goes to bed at twelve or one o'clock and gets up at eight or nine, then he does not feel rested or refreshed the next morning. That tired, languid feeling, that weakening sense of lassitude, should show only too clearly that his body has not properly recuperated from the drains made upon it the day and the night before.

And besides it is just as easy to shift the waking and sleeping hours ahead two or three hours, to go to bed somewhere near the end of the day and to get up at the real beginning of the day.

MR. WILLIAM CARPENTER

Mr. William Carpenter, a well-known Westerville man, P. O. address R. F. D. No. 1, aged 67, a hinner by occupation, and the father of four boys, is a staunch friend of Ka-di-ok. In a testimonial given by him recently he said: "Ka-di-ok has never failed to help me. When I first took it I was bothered with kidney trouble and in a few weeks it passed off and I had no further bother with it; not only that it strengthened my system and helped me generally. I made up my mind then that I would always get Ka-di-ok when I required a tonic. A man of my age needs a remedy like Ka-di-ok every once in a while to keep going, and there is no better time to take it than in the spring of the year. I have been a hinner all my life and am not satisfied with myself unless I can keep on the go all the time, and Ka-di-ok has thus far helped me to do this. It is a wonderful remedy and I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

Ka-di-ok is the formula of an oldtime druggist who has been in business over fifty years. It is guaranteed to be free from narcotics or habit forming drugs. It is an equally good remedy for grown-ups or children, and cannot fail to be helpful to any one in a weakened or run-down condition.

Ka-di-ok can be had in Xenia at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store. adv

GREENE COUNTY GRAIN CO. OF JAMESTOWN FAILS—LISTS LIABILITIES AT $50,000

The Greene County Grain Company, a farmer's co-operative elevator and marketing business, operating elevators and offices at Jamestown and Bowersville for the last three years, asks dissolution of the corporation and appointment of a receiver in a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney Harry D. Smith.

Assets of the company are given as approximately $30,000, and liabilities as approximately $50,000 by attorney Smith.

There are 104 stockholders all farmers, holding from one to 50 shares of stock most of the shares being in small amounts at $100 a share. D. L. Earley, manager of the company is the largest stockholder, owning 50 shares. Charles Beal and The Xenia Grain Company own 30 shares each. During the last year James E. Lewis has been president and C. D. Lackey, secretary of the company.

Largest creditors of the concern are The Bowersville Bank which holds a note for $17,000 and The Farmers' and Traders' Bank at Jamestown, holding a note for $15,000.

The company stopped business a few days ago, when the real estate and chattels were sold to Mr. Loyd of Washington C. H. who will operate the business. D. L. Earley will continue in his employ as manager.

Attorney Harry D. Smith, counsel for the grain company said Friday that the firm's financial troubles are not due to mismanagement but to a series of difficulties which confronted it when it went into business in 1921 and from which it was never able to recoup.

All dealers engaged in business that year met with the same trouble, Mr. Smith said. Grain was delivered while damp, in poor condition for shipping. There was great difficulty in obtaining cars and grain held in the condition which it was received moulded and spoiled. The losses occasioned by that condition at the time it was starting into business were such that the company never was able to get on its feet financially.

The petition asking for the appointment of a receiver is brought in the names of eight of the nine directors; William A. Glass, Clarence D. Lackey, Homer X. Smith, Albert E. Lewis, Ray Garringer, James E. Lewis, Samuel Carpenter and James E. Beall. It recites that the company has been conducting an elevator business, buying and selling grain, seed, coal, fencing, tile etc. with its principal place of business at Jamestown. That it has been discovered that the property and effects have been so far reduced by business losses that the company will not be able to pay in full all just demands for which it is liable or to afford a reasonable security to those who deal with it and that it is deemed that it will be beneficial to the interest of the stockholders that the corporation be dissolved. The petitioners say that "the objects of the company have wholly failed and are entirely abandoned, and the company has disposed of its real estate and chattels and has discontinued operation of business."

Attached to the petition is an inventory of assets, all books vouchers and securities; a full account of the capital stock, names of stockholders number of shares belonging to each; the amount paid on shares at $100 each, the amount still due upon said shares, a statement of all encumbrances and all engagements that have not been fully satisfied or cancelled; the place of residence of each creditor.

Appointment of a master commissioner, designation of a time for hearing the case judgment dissolving the corporation and appointment of a receiver are asked.

The Greene County Grain Company bought the Jamestown property, and the Bowersville property from E. A. Allen. The elevators concerned were formerly the George and Irvin brothers elevator at Jamestown and the Perrill elevator at Bowersville. With the business bought from Allen the company purchased 26 accounts. Attached to the petition are also a list of 225 accounts at the Jamestown office and 60 at the Bowersville office, most of which are said to be good. Besides the Bowersville Bank and Farmers' and Traders' Bank the largest creditors are: C. E. Beal $4000 on a note; W. A. Glass $4000 on note; D. L. Earley $2000 on note. The Xenia Grain Company on note and open account $4000.

Beside his parents Ellis is survived by three sisters and one brother. Funeral services will be held at the home in Lebanon Saturday afternoon at one o'clock and the body will be taken to Port William where burial will be made in the Port William cemetery.

Ellis Turner, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner of Lebanon, died Thursday morning at the home of the family in that city after an illness of only a few days from appendicitis. The lad was born near Jamestown in this county. The family removed from Greene County to Morrow and recently moved to Lebanon, where Mr. Turner is now deputy county treasurer of Warren County.

YOUTH IS DEAD AT HOME IN LEBANON

CROSS IS BURNED NEAR RESIDENCE THURSDAY NIGHT

A wooden cross fastened to a side fence at the home of Mrs. Josephine Kennedy, 604 West Second Street, was burned at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

This is the second cross to be burned this week, one having been burned in the yard of the residence of the Rev. A. A. Burke, pastor of St. Bridgids Catholic Church, Monday evening. It is believed the same parties are responsible for both.

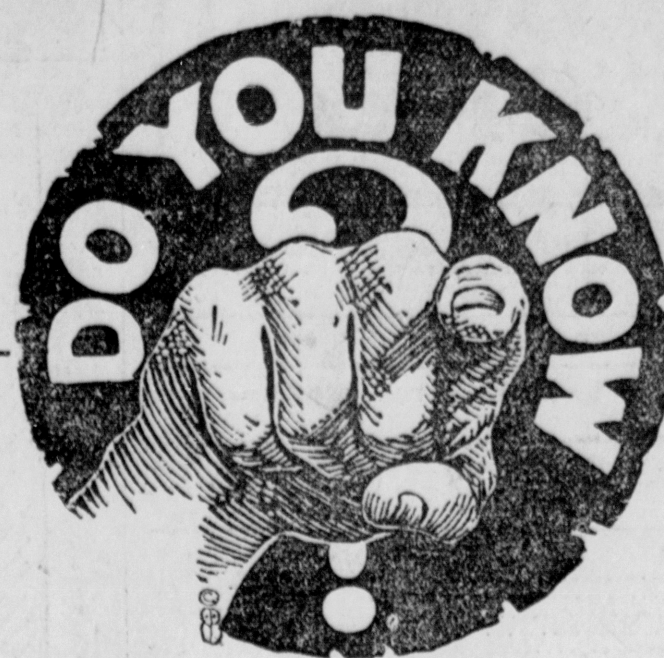

The cross was fastened to a fence bordering the side of the Kennedy property and belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad. When the cross was discovered by Miss Mary Kennedy, City Hall employee, the fence had caught fire. The cross was rudely constructed and straw was tied to it to make it burn rapidly.

Miss Kennedy knocked the cross from the fence and Bernard Donovan, a passer by, extinguished the fire with a bucket of water.

WOODS IS PRAISED FOR AID TO JAPAN.

The outstanding personality in the relief work in Tokio has been Ambassador Cyrus Woods. Although his house burned over his head, all his personal effects were lost and his mother and wife were endangered, he opened within twenty-four hours a temporary embassy in the Imperial Hotel and provided every comfort and assistance possible to all foreigners, of whatever nationality.

Later he tried to find a method of helping the Japanese develop a program of permanent reconstruction. The American Embassy was first to reorganize, although other embassies were not burned.

Shanghai is full of anti-Japanese rumors, but the stories of Japanese incompetence are exaggerated. They did the best possible under the circumstances. Two million homeless within a few hours made a problem so enormous that it is impossible to expect the machine to work smoothly in every part. Your correspondent spent eleven days in Tokio and Yokohama during the earthquake period and realizes Japan's bravery in facing the colossal task of meeting the destruction of the country's heart and the probable loss of the fruits of fifty years' labor to become a great Power.

The Japanese people are facing the greatest calamity in the world's history manfully. Mistakes here and there must be expected in such a catastrophe.

In Tokio, Yokohama and Kobe enthusiastic expressions of gratefulness for America's friendship and assistance have been heard. The Japanese today regard the United States as their sincerest friend, coming to their aid even before the Japanese themselves realized their terrible loss.

A DRY-LAW CONFERENCE.

President Coolidge will call the forty-eight Governors of these United States to Washington. With these executives he will consider the state of the Nation with respect to the enforcement of Federal laws. On the word of the White House, it is understood that immigration, narcotic and the dry statutes will be discussed.

Of these, the last will, of course, be first. Had there been no Eighteenth Amendment there would be little need for this conference of Governors. The very heart and core of the session will be prohibition. The President and as many of the forty-eight Governors as attend will find themselves facing the blunt question of whether the States shall honestly, fully and energetically put the weight of their authority and their police powers behind the Federal statutes. They will be reminded that these were enacted by the Congress in the name of all the people of all the states, and these State executives will be asked to enforce them.

New York has refused to enact a State enforcement act. New Jersey is like-minded. So is Maryland, if recent political developments there mean anything. The same spirit of nullification exists in other States. This may or may not be reflected in the conference, which is facing the necessity of deciding whether the law of the land or the appetites, cravings and wishes of a part of its peoples shall be supreme.

A GUIDE FOR NEWSPAPER MEN.

An insight into our late president's character will be gained by reading his instructions to reporters and writers on the Marion "Star." They are as follows:

Remember there are two sides to every question. Get them both.

Be truthful. Get the facts.

Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than a hundred half wrong. Be decent, be fair, be generous.

Boost—don't knock. There's good in everybody. Bring out the good and never needlessly hurt the feeling of anybody.

In reporting a political gathering give the facts, tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it. Treat all parties alike. If there is any politics to be played, we will play it in our editorial columns. Treat all religious matters reverentially.

If it can possibly be avoided, never bring ignominy to an innocent man or child in telling of the misdeeds or misfortunes of a relative.

Don't wait to be asked, but do it without the asking, and above all be clean and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type. I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child.

INVINCIBLE JAPAN --

The squirrel which has taken its abode in one of the trees in the court house park, is the object of much attention. It has built a nest of very large dimensions in one of the trees and its welfare is being looked after carefully.

Mr. W. B. Bryson left this morning for Cincinnati where he will be in attendance at the Oakley races.

There was a scene of wild excitement which amounted to a panic on a Dayton and Xenia traction car which was pulling into this city last night. The trouble occurred at the crossing of the Pan Handle tracks on west Main street, the car being stuck on the track and the passengers being under the impression that a fast train was bearing down on them.

Mr. David B. John, who is employed as a traveling salesman for the Conde Implement Company, of Indianapolis, is enjoying a vacation of a couple of weeks at his home in this city.

Quince-Apple Preserves: These two fruits are delicious canned together. Use two-thirds of firm, tart apples to one-third of quinces. Pare apples and cut them into quarters (cores removed). Pare and core quinces, then cut them into eighths. Drop the pieces (both fruits) into a bowl of cold water to which you have added the juice of one lemon. Drain and place them in a wire basket and lower the basket in boiling water for one and one-half minutes, then plunge the basket into a pan of cold water for an instant. Drain and pack the fruit in alternate layers in hot, sterilized glass jars; fill the jar to within one-half inch of top with a boiling-hot, medium-thick syrup made by boiling two quarts of water and six pounds of granulated sugar together until the sirup will wrinkle when a little of it is taken on a spoon and the spoon tipped. Adjust new rubber and glass cap.

partially seal (that is, put up top wire but do not press down side wire) and stand the jar on a wooden rack in your wash-boiler, in boiling water which rises almost to jar-top. Let the water continue to boil around the jar 20 minutes, then completely seal, invert to test for leaks, and store. (To sterilize the glass jar, before filling it with fruit, boil it empty, with its glass cap beside it, in clear water for 15 minutes.) Apple-Grape Butter: Core and pare ten pounds of apples. Stem seven pounds of grapes. Put apples and grapes into an enamelware or agate saucepan with four cups of cold water; bring to boiling point, then continue to boil until soft. Strain through a sieve, return to the saucepan, add eight cups of granulated sugar which has been heated a little in your oven, and also add one teaspoon of ground cinnamon and one-half teaspoon each of ground ginger, mace and cloves. Cook till thick, stirring often. Turn into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

Sliced Apple-Onion Pickle: 'Core, pare and thinly-slice two pounds of cooking apples. Also pare and slice two pounds of Spanish onions. Fill hot, sterile glass jars with alternate layers of each, putting between each layer a little chopped red sweet pepper (or Chilies) and a pinch each of ground ginger, cinnamon, allspice and mace. Fill the jars with cold vinegar and completely seal. This pickle is not cooked.' (Contributed by Mrs. S. A.)

Built by the American People

Pennsylvania
Railroad System
The Standard Railroad of the World

THE Railroads were not built by railroad men, and they are not owned by railroad men. They were built by the merchants and farmers of the United States, and they are now owned indirectly by all the people of the United States.

The whole splendid system of railroads as it exists today was built with capital, energy and brains furnished by American business men and American farmers with the high purpose of developing the commercial and agricultural interests of the country.

Every one knows that as soon as the iron horse drew his shadow across the land the farms which the Government could scarcely give away suddenly jumped in value to fifty or a hundred dollars an acre, because the railroads had supplied them with the means of development, production and distribution.

When the railroads are making plenty of money, every shop is humming a song of happiness and every farm is growing rich.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

I DID NOT WEEP
I did not weep to see him dead
Because upon his face,
I saw a smile of glory spread,
A touch of Heavenly grace.

And though my form he could not see,
I fancied that he knew
That I was there, and spoke to me
The way he used to do.

I fancied that I heard him say,
Who battled long with pain:
"A miracle occurred today,
And I am well again!"

"I did not cough last night, and wake
From fever's restless sleep
To wait to see the morning break
Ald near the wagons creep

"And I am well and I am strong,
And glad am I today,
The burden I have borne so long
Has now been put away."

And, standing in that darkened place,
The smile of long ago
Which God had left upon his face
Told me 'twas better so.

Today's Talk

THE OPEN HEART

The world's heart has been opened by the great catastrophe in Japan. That is the life of the heart—to open when there is the call of love, or pity, or need. And then to close and nourish when its great work has been started.

I was impressed by two items that appeared in the newspapers recently. One said that Japan's misfortune would set her back twenty years. Another that the American fleet was steaming at full speed to aid the suffering and starving on the unhappy island.

Japan's fallen and crushed cities and homes will rise again, greater than ever. Her people will be more courageous than ever—and it won't take her twenty years to become convinced that there are friends all about her.

I am glad that the American fleet went to help and to build, and not to destroy. It shows that fleets can be made to be of great service to humanity. Misfortune and calamity make kinemen of us all. When everything is coming our way and success smiles particularly wide, we are apt to forget and grow self-centered and selfish. But when we are shoved into the very pit of adversity, we see afresh. And then it is we know we have hearts with doors to them.

The open heart of the world is much more important to mankind than "the open door for the flow of gold and commerce."

Many a stricken heart in Japan will open with a flow of appreciation and gratitude as those battle-ships steam into port. And every time you open your heart for the giving of happiness to others, you may be sure that love and happiness will fill it to overflowing again.

Keep your heart open. Even let the unworthy in. If you make it warm and beautiful enough, no one can possibly depart unworthy or unhappy.

AGED MAN KILLED AND THREE HURT AS KLAN CARS COLLIDE

Springfield, O., Sept. 28.—J. H. Donahoe, 68, South Limestone Street, was killed, and three injured when two machines carrying klansmen to and from a meeting near South Charleston collided on the South Charleston pike about eight o'clock Thursday night.

The injured are C. G. Mapes, 410 West Fairview Avenue, Dayton, fractured collar bone and lacerations. Sidney E. Lutz, 29 West Mulberry St., shock and severe wounds on head. Irvin Standley, 318 Bellevue Street, severe wound on head.

The wrecked cars were Ford's. Irvin Standley driving one machine was returning to Springfield with four other klansmen. J. H. Donahoe, who was killed, Sidney E. Lutz, Harry Kraus and Victor Colvin. The two latter were uninjured.

Driving the other car which was taking Klansmen to South Charleston was L. J. Thomas, 305 Rose Street. With him were C. G. Mapes, O. H. Rust and two unknown men. Mapes was the only one in the car who was hurt. According to Thomas' story he was driving slowly toward South Charleston, and had crossed the bridge when the other car, carrying blinding head lights bore down upon him at the rate of 35 miles an hour and struck his car, the front wheels on the two cars catching. The Thomas car was overturned and Thomas was pinned beneath it. Swerving again the Standley machine continued across the bridge and overturned.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF RELATIVE THURSDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. George Ary, of Ansonia, former Xenian, were held Thursday afternoon in Ansonia with burial made there.

Mrs. Ary had left Xenia about 20 years ago. Her son, Estle Ary, was killed in the World War on the last day of hostilities and the family never received any information regarding his death. Grief is believed to have resulted in Mrs. Ary's death.

The American Legion Post at Ansonia, has been named for the young man. Among relatives who attended the funeral services were Mrs. Louisa Fawcett of Paintersville, Mrs. Levi Smith of Jamestown, Mrs. Edith Curl and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fisher of this city.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

FARMERS SHOULD WAIT UNTIL OCTOBER 1 BEFORE SEEDING WHEAT PRINCE ADVISES

Experience of the past five years has shown that October first, is a safe wheat seeding date for Greene County farmers. All farmers should aim to seed on or after that date, according to County Agricultural Agent, Ford S. Prince.

Although the Hessian fly is scarce in the wheat stubble this year, enough is present to cause serious damage if early seeding is practiced. It should be the aim of the farmers who have ploughed the wheat stubble, to disk up and kill all volunteer wheat before planting, as volunteer wheat will spread and cause a menace to next year's crop, according to Mr. Prince.

With slight modifications, due to a gain of the Hessian Fly in the wheat of certain northeastern Ohio counties, the safe-seeding dates that have been followed by farmers during the past few years will be observed again this fall. County agricultural agents have announced locally the precise dates at which from observing the emergence of adult flies, it is deemed safe to seed wheat in the various counties.

These safe dates will run from about September 20 in Ashtabula and Lake counties, on the Erie lake shore, to October 4 or later in the most southern of the river counties. The safe date in each county is immediately after the fall brood of Hessian Fly has emerged from buried flaxseeds in wheat or barley stubble, and sought young wheat to feed upon. The idea is to have no wheat there. If this is done the pest perishes within a few days.

Until it was found that by delayed sowing the Hessian Fly could be starved out, this insect was wheat's worst enemy in Ohio. In 1920, 44 per cent of the Ohio crop was infested, a disastrously high percentage. By concerted safe sowing the farmers reduced this infestation by 1922 to an average of 11 per cent and the past year to a state average of 4 per cent. When infestation reaches 10 percent, it begins to show in the check that the farmer receives for his crop.

Unanimity in the observance of safe dates will be necessary, say university and experiment station entomologists, to do away with the trouble entirely. As little as 2 per cent of the wheat acreage of a county sown too early and found by the fly may serve to perpetuate the pest, they say.

Russia Sends a Woman Envoy to Norway

Mrs. Alexandra Kollontay

Madame Alexandra Kollontay is the only woman Ambassador in the world, being Soviet Russia's Minister to Norway, a post she has occupied since October 1922. She is the only woman ever named a member of the Executive Committee of the Communist Party and was head of the Department of Public Welfare in 1917-1918. Madame Kollontay organized the women of Russia from 1918 to 1922 before being sent to Norway. For nine years before the revolution she was a political emigre, living in different parts of Europe, where she learned French English and German.

AMERICAN PLANES IN INTERNATIONAL RACE EASY WINNERS

Cowes, England, Sept. 28—America today won the Schneider cup in the international race of navy sea planes. England and France competed against America.

Lieutenant Rittenhouse piloted the successful American plane. His machine attained the speed of 177 miles an hour. His total time for the course was one hour, 12 minutes 26 4-5 seconds.

America took second place as well as first, Lieut. Irving piloting the second machine. Great Britain was third.

The American victory was a blow to the British as they were confident that the superior strength of their machines would enable them to win.

RAIN EXPECTED TO RELIEVE WEATHER FOR FOOTBALL GAME

Rain Friday morning brought hint of a relief from the oppressive heat which was expected to play havoc with the scheduled season-opening football game between Central High and Wilmington at the new Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Indications were that the weather would be so warm players would be unable to play their best and little real football was expected to accrue. The rain, although not bringing a lower temperature, at least promised that the mole skin stars would not have to do their stuff under the rays of a blazing sun.

A little dampness on Cox Field will improve the turf for football, if the rain does not reach too great proportions.

MAY PREFER CHARGE

Youngstown, O., Sept. 28.—Officials of the Mahoning county dry league said that a charge of perjury probably will be preferred against Mrs. Anna Chepak, who charged J. Cal Huffman, state prohibition agent, with larceny. Huffman was acquitted in municipal court after a trial lasting four days.

WHY THEY PARTED

"I was down with pain in my right side which at times almost crazed me. Most all of the doctors said operation. But what I want to tell you is the pain disappeared with the first dose of your medicine and I have never felt any since. Ray's Wonderful Remedy has the right name. Gas, sour stomach and dyspepsia have left, too. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill, and druggists everywhere." adv

FOOTBALL SWINGS INTO REAL ACTION AS CENTRAL OPENS

With September about to step off into space, high school and college football is striking its stride over the country.

There were a few desultory shots fired in the 1923 grid campaign last week end, but these will be drowned out Friday and Saturday by the roars emanating from thousands of oblongs from coast to coast.

Local interest lies in the initial clash Friday afternoon between Central High and Wilmington High. Both teams are starting their season and the game will be an important test combat for Coach Earl Burger's toilers, most of whom will be newly tried. He has impressed upon his athletes that winning this game is the most important accomplishment in the book.

Cedarville College, which last week took a beating at the hands of Antioch at Yellow Springs, should show considerably better form at Cedarville Saturday against Findlay. The week's practice since the Yellow Springs game should show Coach John A. Talcott the weak points in his combination and the extra practice should help the Cedarville lads to overcome loose tackling and loose ball toting.

Antioch College is going to find the afternoon pastime at Springfield Friday very strenuous, for the reason that Coach Earl Prugh's pastimers are going out of their way to meet Wittenberg College on the oblong. Antioch will take considerable of a beating in which Coach King Godfrey will get a line on his men for the hio Conference campaign.

The University of Dayton and both Dayton High Schools will also be busy this week end.

NEW WITTENBERG STADIUM WILL BE USED FIRST TIME

Springfield, O., Sept. 28—Wittenberg's new $100,000 stadium was to be formally opened today.

President L. E. Tuloss, of the Lutheran Institution, was to head a large number of notables who will march to the field.

The football squad will lead the entire student body of the college and Dr. Tuloss will then kick the first football to be booted on the new athletic field. The game will be with Antioch College.

However, the dedication will not take place until Oct. 20, when Ohio Wesleyan will furnish the opposition.

FINE METED OUT IN POLICE COURT AFTER POLICE STAGE RAIDS

Carl Pearson, 226 N. Galloway St., was fined $300 and costs by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court Thursday afternoon on a charge of possessing liquor.

Pearson was arrested by police who raided his home Thursday afternoon. They confiscated one-half pint of corn whiskey found in a cupboard, some empty bottles that had evidently contained liquor, and a boiler believed to have been used as a still.

The arrest was the only one made as the result of a number of liquor raids in which the police were active, on warrants and evidence obtained by a special dry detective operating for the city. Chief of Police M. E. Graham was in charge of the raiding party which included Patrolmen Thompson, Boyles, Sowards and Spencer and dry detectives. "Water hauls" were found at other places raided.

REBEL LEADER ELUDES ARREST

Above is a splendid camera study of General von Luttwitz, German army commander in the World War, who instigated the now famous "Kapp Putsch" and who, up to the present time has managed to escape arrest by the German authorities seeking him.

Styles BY LENORE

She's so scared at having her picture in the paper that her dolly's feelings are forgotten, but she stands up bravely to show us her smart new jumber frock, which rises to heights of youthful chic by a clever arrangement of the Roman scarf. Against the background of dark blue rep the colors are striking, and the embroidered motif is like the last note which comes like an echo at the end of a musical composition. A most practical frock, this, for Miss Six-to-Twelve.

A charming arrangement of printed foulard on navy serge points the way to a flattering frock for the older girl.

There is marked variety in the materials favored in clothes for young people. Jersey, challis, plain and striped flannels are extensively used in school and play frocks. A lovely party dress is made of sapphire blue velvet, with cream Georgette in the frill at the neck. Velvet striped in two shades of rose is used for another; and crepe de chine, with some taffetas are certain to be among those present wherever smart children's clothes are to be seen.

WATER USERS MUST PROVIDE METERS; SPEEDING SCORED

All water users in the city will be required to install water meters at once, according to the terms of a resolution placed on its first reading by the City Commission Thursday night.

The new resolution provides that the City Manager be directed to order all subscribers to install meters within 90 days of the passage of the resolution. City Auditor T. H. Zell, head of the water department, says 85 per cent of the connections in the city are now metered. When the city took over the water plant there were only five per cent metered.

Discussion of the new flooring for the Monroe St. viaduct occupied considerable of the attention of the commissioners Thursday night. Representatives of the Baker Croosetting Co., Washington C. H., discussed means of repairing the viaduct floor with the commissioners.

Assignment of Night Desk Sergeant Howard Confer of the Police Department, to re-establish the police speed department in order to break up alleged speeding and reckless driving may follow discussion that occupied attention of Commissioners. Demand for police control of the menace was championed by several members. Confer is said to be willing to give part time to the campaign.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, E. A. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

PLUMBERS WILL BE LICENSED IF NEW ORDINANCE PASSES

An ordinance licensing plumbers and regulating installation and alteration of plumbing was placed on its first reading by the City Commission Thursday night in answer to a demand for city regulation.

The ordinance provides that all plumbers must obtain a city license to practice their trade, making application in writing to the City Manager and giving their name, residence address, place of business, number of years they have worked at the trade, and furnishing an agreement to abide by the law.

License fees will be $10 annually expiring each December 31, and in addition the plumber must furnish bond in the sum of $2,000. Records of the licenses will be kept by the Manager, and duplicates by the Director of Public Health and the Superintendent of the Water Works according to the provisions of the new ordinance.

Other regulations regarding licensing for connecting water and sewer lines will still be in force. Violators of the ordinance will have their licenses revoked by the City Manager after a hearing before him and people who take water or sewer lines without permission may be charged with a misdemeanor and fined not to exceed $100 according to the terms of the proposed ordinance.

DONAHEY ISSUES PROCLAMATION

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Governor Donahey issued a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 7 to 13 as "Fire Prevention Week" in Ohio. The governor asked that special attention be given during the week to the elimination of fire hazards, pointing out that the fire losses in Ohio during the last year amounted to $14,000,000 and cost 376 lives. "Our fire losses have become a serious matter, vitally affecting the welfare of the state, the assistance of all the people is necessary in order effectively to check this economic waste," he stated.

She Says She Intends to "Keep on Marrying."

Mrs. Olive Walsh is a Newton, Mass., woman whose husband is suing to annul their marriage on the grounds that his wife is a bigamist. Although married four times, Mrs. Walsh laughs and says she will "keep on marrying" until she finds the "right man" and adds that she has never really loved a husband yet.

JOAN ARGUES ABOUT PROHIBITION

Chapter XXXIX

Paul had telephoned he was bringing Dave Logan home to dinner. It was very seldom now that he did, and I made every effort to have the meal all it should be, Joan, like her father, was artistic, and often I would coax her to set the table, arrange a centerpiece of flowers. She had just finished her task when Paul and Dave came in. "Come into the dining room and we will try it," Paul said as they greeted me. I saw that Dave had a parcel under his arm. I followed.

Paul got glasses and ice, then opened the bottle. He and Dave took a drink. Then Dave said:

"This is the real stuff, Ruby. Better put most of it away for medicine. It's getting hard to find nowadays."

"Not so hard if one has the money and knows how," Paul said.

I noticed Joan listened and tried to send her from the room, but she remained and to my surprise she asked "You don't believe in prohibition, do you, Dad?"

"No, nor in any law that tries to tell people what they shall eat or drink."

"Nor you don't, Mr. Logan?" she said to Dave.

"Not me!" Dave replied. "We all carry it on our hips eh, Paul instead

Mrs. McCormick's Ex-Chauffeur Declared Sane

Louis Emil Ammon, formerly Swiss chauffeur for Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller and divorced wife of Harold McCormick, was tried for his sanity in Chicago, when he testified that the psychic influence of John D.'s daughter made him a rover and a wife deserter. Nevertheless the jury declared he was sane.

turned. "But men like Dad and Dave know how to handle themselves better than a boy like Clem," I knew I had not answered her argument but what could I say more without condemning her father? With a sniff and a shrug of her shoulders Joan left the room while I, feeling helpless, could only pray she would keep her promise.

But I made up my mind to speak to Paul, tell him of Joan's argument, beg him not to bring anything home or have Dave and caution him about making light of drinking or breaking the law.

When I did so he laughed at her arguments, saying she had been reading what some political crank had to say through the newspapers, and told me I should be old enough not to pay any attention to what a child said.

"But please don't talk or drink before her!" I pleaded. "She is headstrong, and perhaps the young people she goes with aren't as particular as they might be. I hate to have her think breaking the laws of the country is sort of a joke. No one can tell what might come of it." I had said all I could without telling the reason for my fears, and I realized it had accomplished nothing.

"I never saw such a woman," Paul said. "When you haven't any real troubles you make imaginary ones so you'll have something to worry about. Imaginary trouble! I knew only too well it was terribly real."
